The designer allows you to create platform-independent reports, preview them, and export to PDF, XLSX, and other formats. You can embed query parameters into an SQL string to filter data at the data source level. You can publish the created reports on any supported platform: WinForms, WPF, WinUI, ASP.NET Web Forms, ASP.NET MVC, ASP.NET Core, and Blazor Server. Use report parameters to filter data in a previewed document. DevExpress Reporting allows you to create bookmarks and use cross references to refer to the document structure in a document map and table of contents and switch between different document sections. Format DataAllows you to format data values in report controls. Save the report and close the designer. If you need to add DevExpress Reporting functionality to an application, you usually need to complete the following basic tasks: The sections below guide you to the documents that help you get started with these tasks. public class HomeController : Controller { public ActionResult Index() { return View(new Reports.TestReport()); } } Add the ReportDesigner Extension Insert the following code in the View page: @model DevExpress.XtraReports.UI.XtraReport @Html.DevExpress().ReportDesigner(settings => { settings.Name = "ReportDesigner"; settings.DisableHttpHandlerValidation = true; }).Bind(Model).GetHtml() ReportDesigner.handlerUri = "@Url.Action("Invoke", "ReportDesigner"); ReportDesigner.viewerHandlerUri = "@Url.Action("Invoke", "WebDocumentViewer"); ReportDesigner.queryBuilderHandlerUri = "@Url.Action("Invoke", "QueryBuilder"); The code disables default HTTP handlers and instructs the Report Designer to use default controllers with the specified handlers. You can bind report elements to individual data source fields or create binding expressions of any complexity. Add a report to your application and print/export this report without displaying it in the user interface See the following topic for instructions: Print and export reports without a preview. The report Designer for End Users is a fully functional reporting tool that enables you and your end users to create, view, print, print, export and save reports. The Designer report displays the blank report you just created. For more information, review the "Attack the required JavaScript files" section of the following help topic: manual integration into an existing project. Group and sort dataNables to group data records and calculate summaries across groups. Start the fully customizable end user report designer and viewer for the following platforms: WPF Winforms Blazor Web Platforms Asp.NET Core ASP.NET MVC Web Forms WinUI you can integrate these components into your application or create a new reporting application. Data FilterIf you are viewing only a subset of data in reports. To implement these controllers, create a new file (ReportingControllers.cs) in the Controllers folder with the following content: Using devexpress.web.mvc.controllers; Using System.Web.mvc; WebApplication1 namespace.Controllers {WebDocumentViewController public class: WebDocumentViewErapicOntrollerBase {Public Override ActionResult Invoke () {return Base.Invoke (); } reportDesignController public class: reportDesignErapicOntrollerBase {Public Override ActionResult Invoke () {return Base.Invoke (); } QueryBuilderController public class: QueryBuilderApicOntrollerBase {Public Override ActionResult Invoke () {return Base.Invoke (); } } Add a reference to the devexpress.xtrareports.v21.2.web to resolve the base controller type. The Viewer Document component displays an interactive preview of the document and enables end users to print and export reports. . Reporting includes controls such as graphs, cross-sheets, gauges, barcodes, for displaying data. Allow users to customize report contents in Print Preview: Customize field values directly in a preview document before printing or exporting it.
